

An Garda Síochána Recruitment

GARDA TRAINEES

Background Information:

An Garda Síochána is the national police and security service of Ireland. The Mission of An Garda Síochána is to deliver professional policing and security services with the trust, confidence and support of the people we serve.

The Role:

The role of a member of An Garda Síochána includes but is not limited to the following functions:

- ensuring our nation's security;
- the prevention and detection of crime;
- enhancing community safety;
- reducing the incidence of fatal and serious injuries on our roads and improving road safety;
- working with communities to prevent anti-social behaviour;
- promoting an inter-agency approach to problem solving and improving the overall quality of life.

The Individual:

The position of Garda Trainee requires candidates who are medically and physically fit, who have a dedicated sense of community spirit, are empathetic, and who are passionate about helping other people. An Garda Síochána is especially interested in men and women who are involved in giving back to their community through voluntary work whether that is through the Garda Reserve, Reserve Defence Forces, Civil Defence or any other voluntary organisations. An Garda Síochána serves all of the community and would encourage women and individuals from minority groups to consider a career in policing. Ideal candidates will be well organised, methodical, ethical and have a keen attention to detail.

Closing date:

Thursday 1st June, 2017
