Industrial Relations Officer (AP) in An Garda Síochána

Overview

Introduction

An Garda Síochána is the national police service of Ireland with approximately 14,000 Garda members, 2,500 Garda staff and 600 Garda Reserves working in four regions across the State and in a number of national, regional, specialist and administrative units. The mission of An Garda Síochána is “Keeping People Safe”. An Garda Síochána is directed and controlled by the Garda Commissioner. An Garda Síochána is a unitary body responsible for the security of the State and the provision of policing services, two functions united by an underpinning philosophy: the protection of the individual and the safety of communities. An Garda Síochána is in and of the community and community policing is the key and core to what the organisation does.

The changing demands and expectations of citizens, the emerging security and policing challenges, require a programme that will professionalise, modernise and reform An Garda Síochána to ensure the Organisation can meet present and future challenges. Over the past decade, statutory and other reviews have highlighted the need for major reform of the organisation, how it is managed and the manner in which policing services are provided.

Commission on the Future of Policing

The Report of the Commission on the Future of Policing in Ireland (CoFPI) was published in September 2018 and is the output of significant consultation with public representatives; government officials; academics in Ireland and abroad; officials from other jurisdictions; Gardaí of all ranks; Garda staff; and the public. The CoFPI Report outlines the drivers for change and presents a clear vision for the future of An Garda Síochána. The consultation by the Commission led to the development of 10 key principles for the future of policing in Ireland, and a comprehensive set of recommendations to meet not just current, but also future challenges. These are set out in the ‘A Policing Service for the Future’ Implementing the Report of the Commission on the Future of Policing in Ireland.

A wide-ranging transformation programme is underway. This is a challenging reform agenda across key areas including cultural change, governance, performance management, technology, structural change and capacity building and offers a significant opportunity to make a valuable contribution to Irish life.

There is strong political commitment to this reform agenda and the Government has committed to the provision of support which includes increasing the Garda workforce to bring the strength of the Service to 15,000 Garda members, 4,000 Garda staff and 2,000 Garda reserves by 2021. A substantial capital envelope for technology and equipment, has also been provided.

An Garda Síochána is a dynamic Organisation in which staff members can enjoy a rewarding and worthwhile career of service to the communities and people of Ireland.
