Foreword by Chief Superintendent John Roche

It gives me great pleasure to present you with the Annual Policing Plan 2009 for the new Wexford Division. The Wexford Division was implemented on the 2nd June 2008 as part of the Garda Boundary Alignment Project.

The Garda Siochana Corporate Strategy 2007 – 2009 sets out the six strategic goals, which the people in the organisation will strive to achieve over that three year period. That strategy also recognises the need for change in the way we go about our business through a clear and consistent focus on the key public imperatives of public safety, public confidence and transparent public accountability. Those corporate goals are reflected in this Annual Policing Plan for the Wexford Division. The Annual Policing Plan sets out the actions and performance indicators by which our performance will be measured throughout 2009.

The year ahead will provide challenges to all of us tasked with providing the policing service in the Wexford Division. The people we serve are entitled to expect the highest possible level of service and professionalism. Ensuring that we provide a service which meets, or exceeds, those expectations must be the responsibility of every one of us who work in the Division, both Garda and civilian alike. It is vital that we go about our business in a manner which reflects the core universal principles of legality, necessity, proportionality, accountability and non-discrimination.

We will work in partnership with both internal and external stakeholders to provide a visible Garda presence, an effective response to crime and anti-social behaviour, and an improved sense of security for the people who live within the Division. Our ultimate goal is to ensure that we provide an excellent policing service to all the communities in the Wexford Division.

As part of the preparation of this Policing Plan I undertook a consultative process, where submissions were invited from elected representatives, state agencies and non-government organisations that serve the communities within County Wexford. I thank you for your ongoing contributions, cooperation and support. Your feedback, suggestions, criticisms and constructive argumentation are much appreciated. This rich vein of communication, diversity of voice and ongoing dialogue is contributing significantly to our ongoing effectiveness and continuous improvement programmes.

I invite all of the people in the Wexford Garda Division to cooperate with us in our mission and in that regard I welcome approaches either formal or informal from any group / organisation or individual who feel that they have a contribution to make in this area and to send their views or suggestions in writing to me at Wexford Garda Station.

Chief Superintendent

John Roche
