Foreword by Chief Superintendent John Roche

It gives me great pleasure to present you with the Annual Policing Plan 2010 for the Wexford Division. This Plan sets out our strategic priorities for the first year of our Strategy Statement 2010 – 2012 and includes the priorities determined for An Garda Síochána by the Minister for Justice, Equality & Law Reform under Section 20 of the Garda Síochána Act 2005.

At the core of the Strategy Statement are four core values:

Honesty – Being honest and ethical and adhering to the principles of fairness and justice.

Accountability – Accepting individual responsibility and ensuring public accountability.

Respect – Having respect for people, their Human Rights and their needs.

Professionalism – Providing a professional policing service to all communities.

They will guide all of our actions and will serve as our cultural cornerstones. They are inherent and sacrosanct and can never be compromised.

The year ahead will provide challenges to all of us tasked with providing the policing service in the Wexford Division. The people we serve are entitled to expect the highest possible level of service and professionalism. Ensuring that we provide a service which meets, or exceeds, those expectations must be the responsibility of every one of us who work in the Division, both Garda and civilian alike. It is vital that we go about our business in a manner which reflects the core universal principles of legality, necessity, proportionality, accountability and non-discrimination.

We will work in partnership with both internal and external stakeholders to provide a visible Garda presence, an effective response to crime and anti-social behaviour, and an improved sense of security for the people who live within the Division. Our ultimate goal is to ensure that we provide an excellent policing service to all the communities in the Wexford Division.

As part of the preparation of the Policing Plan I undertook a consultative process within the Division with Public Representatives, state agencies and non-government organisations that serve the communities within County Wexford. I thank you for your ongoing contributions, cooperation and support. Your feedback, suggestions, criticisms and constructive argumentation are much appreciated. This rich vein of communication, diversity of voice and ongoing dialogue is contributing significantly to our ongoing effectiveness and continuous improvement programmes.

The primary function of An Garda Síochána to ensure that people feel safe, on the streets and in their homes. An Garda Síochána will not lose sight of that objective. As we implement this plan, we will remain committed to delivering the highest of professional policing for the benefit of the community in County Wexford.

Chief Superintendent

John Roche
