(b) Consents to be cautioned and, where appropriate, to be supervised by a juvenile liaison officer, and

(c) Is of or over the age of criminal responsibility and under 18 years of age, but paragraph (b) shall not apply where the Director is satisfied that the failure to agree to being cautioned or supervised is attributable to undue pressure being brought to bear on the child by any person and, in that event, the child shall be deemed to have consented for the purposes of that paragraph.

(2) The Director shall be satisfied that the admission of the child to the Programme would be appropriate, in the best interests of the child and not inconsistent with the interests of society and any victim.

(3) The criminal behaviour for which the child has accepted responsibility shall not be behaviour in respect of which admission to the Programme is excluded under any regulations made pursuant to section 47, unless the Director of Public Prosecutions directs otherwise in a notification to the Director.

(4) When the admission of a child to the Programme is being considered any views expressed by any victim in relation to the child's criminal behaviour shall be given due consideration but the consent of the victim shall not be obligatory for such admission.

(5) For the purposes of subsection (1) (c), the age for admission to the Programme shall be the age of the child on the date on which the criminal behaviour took place.

Decision to admit to Programme (Section 24 Children Act, 2001)

(1) It shall be a function of the Director to decide whether to admit a child to the Programme and the category of caution to be administered to any child so admitted

(2) Where the Director decides that a child should be admitted to the Programme, he or she shall direct a juvenile liaison officer to give notice in writing to the parents or guardian of the child specifying the criminal behaviour in respect of which a caution is to be administered, whether the caution is to be formal or informal and the time and place where it is to be administered and stating that the parents or guardian are obliged to attend its administration.

Cautions (Section 25 Children Act, 2001)

1) A caution shall be administered to every child admitted to the Programme.

(2) A formal caution shall be administered in a Garda Síochána station or, in exceptional circumstances, elsewhere by—

(a) A member of the Garda Síochána not below the rank of inspector, or

(b) A juvenile liaison officer who has been trained in mediation skills, in the presence of the parents or guardian and, if the caution has been administered by such a member of the Garda Síochána, a juvenile liaison officer.

(3) An informal caution shall be administered by a juvenile liaison officer in a Garda Síochána station, in the child's normal place of residence or in exceptional circumstances elsewhere, in the presence of the parents or guardian of the child.

(4) In this section—

“Formal caution” means a caution to be administered to a child where—

(a) No previous caution has been administered, or

(b) One or more than one informal or formal caution has been previously administered, and the Director considers that the child's criminal behaviour was of such a nature that it could not be adequately dealt with by way of informal caution;

“Informal caution” means a caution to be administered to a child where—

(a) No previous caution has been administered, or

(b) One or more than one informal caution has been previously administered, and the Director considers that the child's criminal behaviour was not sufficiently serious to warrant a formal caution.

Restorative Caution (Section 26 Children Act, 2001)

The Director may invite any victim whose views in relation to the child's criminal behaviour have been considered pursuant to section 23 (4) to be present at the administration of a formal caution.

(2) Where any victim is so present, there shall be a discussion among those present about the child's criminal behaviour.

(3) The member of the Garda Síochána administering the formal caution may invite the child—

(a) To apologise, whether orally or in writing or both, to the victim, and

(b) Where appropriate, to make financial or other reparation to him or her.

Conference (Section 29 Children Act, 2001)

A Section 29 Conference is defined in Section 29 in Part 4 of the Children Act, 2001:

'A "conference", in relation to a child, means a meeting held pursuant to this Part of persons concerned with the child's welfare, and such a conference shall have the following functions:

(a) To bring together the child in respect of whom the conference is being held, his or her parents or guardian, such other family members, relatives and other persons as appropriate and the facilitator with a view to—

(i) establishing why the child became involved in the behaviour that gave rise to his or her admission to the Programme,

(ii) discussing how the parents or guardian, family members, relatives or any other person could help to prevent the child from becoming involved in further such behaviour, and

(iii) where appropriate, reviewing the child's behaviour since his or her admission to the Programme;

(b) as appropriate and in accordance with this Part, to mediate between the child and the victim;

(c) to formulate an action plan for the child; and

(d) to uphold the concerns of the victim and have due regard to his or her interests.

Message from the Chairperson

Assistant Commissioner Paula Hilman – Chair of the Monitoring Committee

Dear Commissioner,

As Chairperson of the Monitoring Committee appointed under Section 44 (1) of the Children Act, 2001 to monitor the effectiveness of the Diversion Programme, I am pleased to present the Annual Report for 2023.

The purpose of the Committee is to ensure that the efficacy of the Diversion Programme is sufficiently monitored, and improved upon where possible. In 2023, this involved monitoring the progression of recommendations made by the Committee in 2022, making recommendations for actions to be implemented in 2024, and monitoring the delivery of training to Garda personnel involved in delivering the Programme.

Working together in partnership with stakeholders in Youth Justice is essential to develop and implement sustainable and effective solutions to respond to the diverse needs of both the children, who have been referred to the Diversion Programme, and the victims and communities impacted by their behaviour. As outlined in this report, 2023 saw continued inter-agency collaboration in the delivery of evidence based initiatives demonstrated by the continued work of the Greentown Programme, Bail Supervision Scheme, Youth Joint Agency Response to Crime (YJARC) and the work of the Youth Diversion Projects Research & Development Team.

It is important to acknowledge Principal Officer Rose Sweeney, Superintendent John Finucane, Director of the Diversion Programme and all personnel attached to the Garda National Youth Diversion Bureau for their continued commitment to the administration and delivery of the Programme. I also wish to acknowledge the work of Divisional Juvenile Liaison Officers and Youth Diversion Project staff for their dedicated contribution and commitment throughout the year. Thank you also to the Garda Síochána Analysis Service for the provision of the Diversion Programme statistics for 2023.

Finally, I wish to extend my gratitude to the members of the Monitoring Committee, to Dr Sean Redmond, Dr Salome Mbugua and PO Rose Sweeney, for their support, and commitment throughout the year.

Executive Summary

Diversion Programme

The objective of the Programme is to divert children from committing further offences. The child must accept responsibility for their criminal behavior. The objective is achieved primarily by administering a caution to the child and, where appropriate, by placing them under the supervision of a Juvenile Liaison Officer and convening a conference to be attended by the child, family members and other concerned persons.

Statistics

Statistics for this report are provided by the Garda Síochána Analysis Service from PULSE data as of 2nd April 2024. There were 15,813 referrals to the Diversion Programme in 2023, which represents an increase of 1% compared to 2022 (15,719 referrals).

71% (5,534) of children referred to the Diversion Programme in 2023 were referred only once. 68% (3,348) of informal cautions were issued to children who received only one referral to the Diversion Programme in 2023.

The majority of referrals to the Division Programme in 2023 were under the offence category of Theft and Related Offences, and accounted for 31% (4,902) of referrals. There were 4,971 theft and related offences referrals, an increase of 5% compared to 2022 (4,719 referrals).

The Burglary offence category had the highest increase in referrals from 450 referrals in 2022 to 643 referrals in 2023, an increase of 43%.

Drugs offence categories had the highest decrease in referrals from 1,881 in 2022 to 1,607 in 2023. This is a 15% decrease. The Public Order Offence category also had a decrease of 13% in referrals in 2023, from 2,626 in 2022 to 2,284 in 2023.

Road Traffic offences accounted for over 10% (1,679) of total referrals in 2023. Road safety is crucial for young people as they are among the most vulnerable road users due to their inexperience and propensity for risk-taking behaviour.

Youth Diversion Projects

Youth Diversion Projects (YDPs) work to divert children from entering or remaining within the justice system. YDPs work with children and their families in their communities, taking a strengths-based approach to support positive change, enabling them to reach their full potential and improve their long-term outcomes.

Restorative Justice Cautions

There were 312 restorative cautions in 2023, which is 45% lower than the number reported in 2022 (568). A total of 404 restorative cautions were directed by GNYDB in 2023, which if all had been administered, would have resulted in a 29% decrease from 2022. However, 92 directions for restorative cautions were subsequently updated to a formal caution/UTCO. The primary reasons for this were victims not engaging with the restorative process or the child subsequently not accepting responsibility for the offence for which they were referred to the Diversion Programme.

Efforts to address the decrease in restorative cautions will continue in 2024 and will involve further Restorative Justice training for JLOs with an increased emphasis on communication with victims on the positive outcomes that can be achieved as a result of Restorative Justice and on supporting the victim throughout the process. The Committee also recommends the development of a Garda Youth Diversion Bureau Restorative Justice Forum to further support JLOs in the delivery of Restorative Cautions in addition to being a member of Restorative Practices Ireland.

GNYDB Governance and Monitoring Unit

The GNYDB Governance and Monitoring Unit plays a role in ensuring the efficient and effective operation of the Diversion Programme. The purpose of the unit is to support, advise and assist Gardaí in progressing youth referrals, monitor Youth Referral Key Performance Indicator reports in order to identify and highlight issues at Divisional level, and to engage with Divisional Performance Assurance Functional Area Teams. Its responsibilities also include liaising with IT in relation to PULSE updates and development of youth referral reports, reviewing and updating infographics and information guides on youth referral processes, and engaging with Divisional Youth Diversion Liaison Inspectors.

Training and Competitions

In 2023, Restorative Justice Training was delivered to newly appointed JLOs. In addition, Restorative Justice Refresher Training was delivered in the DMR North, Limerick Cork and Galway West Division. The roll out of refresher training continues in 2024.

Together Stronger training was delivered to JLOs and Youth Justice Practitioners jointly. This training focuses on the development and maintenance of effective partnerships between JLOs and Youth Diversion Project Practitioners.

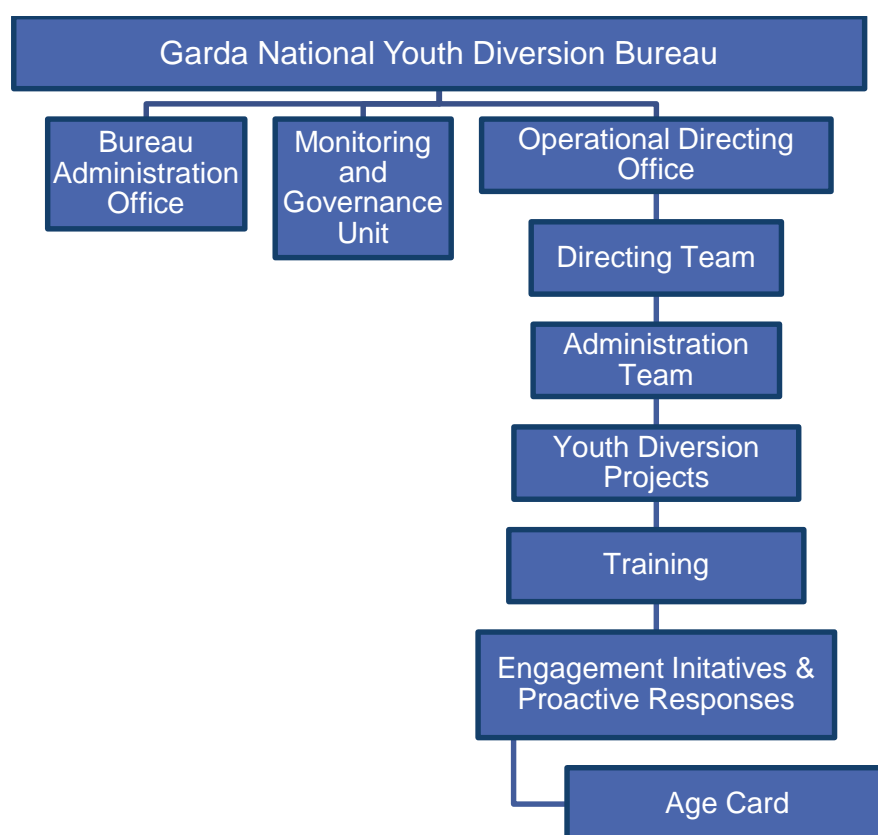

The GNYDB delivered training on the Diversion Programme and GNYDB to nine Sergeant Promotion and five Inspector Promotion Courses in 2023.

GNYDB Structure

GNYDB

The GNYDB is the national office tasked with administration of the Diversion Programme under Part 4 of the Children Act, 2001. The GNYDB continues to work closely with the Department of Justice, and Department of Children, Equality, Disability, Integration and Youth.

The Director

As stipulated in the Children Act, 2001, the Diversion Programme is managed by a member of An Garda Síochána not below the rank of Superintendent who is assigned to the role by the Commissioner of An Garda Síochána. The Director may, delegate any of the functions assigned to the Director to a Garda Inspector.

 'Harmful Communication' was recently introduced as an offence category on PULSE and there is no comparable data for 2022. % (+/-) v 2022 is only calculated if there were 30 or more referrals in 2023.

Theft Offence Category

The majority of referrals to the Division Programme in 2023 were under the offence category of Theft and Related Offences and accounted for 31% of referrals. There were 4,971 theft and related offences referrals, an increase of 5.3% compared to 2022 (4,719 referrals). 3,437 referrals of the theft incident category were for Theft from Shop, which accounts for 69% of the category.

While general Public Order offences account for 62% (1,416) of referrals under this category, 604 (26%) of these referrals were for the offence of Trespassing in a Yard or Curtilage and 187 referrals were for Affray/Riot/Violent Disorder.

Traffic Offence Category/Road Safety

There were 1,634 referrals to the Diversion Programme in 2023, this in a 9% increase from 2022 (1,506 referrals). 390 (24%) referrals under the Traffic offence category were for Dangerous Driving. Dangerous Driving causing Death or Serious Bodily Harm accounted for 12 referrals to the Diversion Programme.

Drugs Offence Category

Drugs offence categories had the highest decrease in referrals from 1,881 in 2022 to 1,607 in 2023, a decrease of 15%. 1,009 (63%) of these referrals were for Simple Possession and 496 (30%) for Possession of drugs for Sale or Supply.

Burglary Offence Category

The Burglary offence category had the highest increase in referrals from 450 referrals in 2022 to 643 referrals in 2023, an increase of 43%. Out of these 643 referrals, the offence of Aggravated Burglary accounted for 12 referrals and Possession of an Article (Burglary or Theft) for 135 referrals.

Restorative Justice

Definition of Restorative Justice

Section 26 of the Children Act, 2001 provides for the presence of a victim at a formal caution. This enables a process whereby the young person accepts responsibility for their offending behaviour and becomes accountable to those they have harmed. The victim is given the opportunity to have their views represented, by either meeting the young person face to face, or having their views represented by someone else. This means that instead of focusing on a criminal justice outcome for a child who has admitted an offence, repairing the damage to the victim and reintegrating the child back into the community becomes the primary focus. By validating the victim's experience and by reintegrating the child back into their community, restorative justice is associated with better outcomes for the offender, a reduced risk of reoffending, more positive outcomes for victims and is in practice, more cost effective and better associated with practitioner well-being and improved community relations.

Objective of Restorative Justice

Where the Director of the Diversion Programme directs a restorative caution to be administered, it is an opportunity for a child's behaviour to be addressed in a way that holds the child accountable, while ensuring that the victim experiences validation and recognition for the harm.

There were 312 restorative cautions in 2023, which is 45% fewer than the number of Restorative Cautions issued in 2022 (568). A total of 404 restorative cautions were directed by GNYDB in 2023, which if all had been administered, would have resulted in a 29% decrease from 2022. However, 92 directions for restorative cautions were subsequently amended to a formal caution/UTCO. The primary reasons for this were victims not engaging with the restorative process or the child subsequently not accepting responsibility for the offence for which they were referred to the Diversion Programme.

To address the decrease in restorative cautions, further Restorative Justice JLO training will continue in 2024 with an increased emphasis on communication with victims on the positive outcomes that can be achieved as a result of Restorative Justice and on supporting the victim throughout the process. It is also recommended by the Committee to develop a Garda Youth Diversion Bureau Restorative Justice Forum to further support JLOs in the delivery of restorative cautions in addition to being a member of Restorative Practices Ireland.

Number Youth Referrals Resulting in Restorative Caution 2014-2023

Restorative Justice and Practices Community Initiative

A collaborative Restorative Practice Community of Practices (RPCOPs) has been established in the DMR North Central Division, which involves the holding of a monthly meeting organised and facilitated by the JLO Sergeant within the Division. Members of the community 'tell their story', have it acknowledged, and then as a community, discuss how to move forward together. The objective of the initiative is to build community relationships and to establish and develop the practice of Restorative Practice within the community. Local Gardaí can then call on the members of the community who attend these meetings to attend Restorative Conferences for children involved in the Diversion Programme for Section 26 and Section 29 Conferences.

As part of the work being undertaken by GNYDB to address the decrease in restorative cautions, GNYDB will monitor this practice which has been established within the DMR North Central and review the successes being achieved at local level and explore the possibility of replicating the initiative in other Divisions.

Youth Diversion Projects

The 106 Youth Diversion Projects are community based youth development projects which seek to divert young people from entering or remaining within the justice system. These projects facilitate personal development and promote civic responsibility.

GNYDB works closely with the Department of Justice, Community Based Organisations, the Youth Diversion Project Best Practice Development Team and the Research Evidence into Policy, Programmes and Practice (REPPP). REPPP is a research collaboration between the School of Law in University of Limerick and the Department of Justice aimed at improving the evidence base in relation to youth crime and youth justice reform in Ireland.

Youth Diversion Projects Research & Development Team

2023 saw the establishment of the Youth Diversion Projects Research and Development Team under the leadership of REPPP. It is an amalgamation of the Youth Diversion Project Best Practice Development Team and three youth justice research fellows from the former Action Research Project team in REPPP.

The purpose of the Youth Diversion Projects Research and Development Team is to improve outcomes for children and families connected to the Youth Diversion Projects network, by supporting the development and implementation of practice, based on local and international evidence. GNYDB- Proactive Engagements and Responses

Garda Síochána Operating Model

The GNYDB has engaged with the Strategic Transformation Office (STO) in relation to the nationwide rollout of the Operating Model including designing new processes for dealing with youth crime, JLO allocation and reporting structures.

Youth Diversion – Guidelines and Updated HQ Directive

A working group has been established at GNYDB to examine an updated HQ Directive and guidance for Juvenile Liaison Officers (JLOs) in relation to the operation of the Diversion Programme. Work is ongoing to finalise a new guideline document for JLOs and HQ Directive on the Diversion Programme.

Drugs Working Group

The drugs working group was established to examine what delays exist in the processing of drug offences within An Garda Síochána for those aged under 18 years of age at the time of detection. While work commenced on this examination in 2023, it will continue in 2024 to identify and address causes of delays of youth referrals to the Diversion Programme for drug related offences.

Children in Care Working Group

An internal working group was set up to address an area of concern and effective practice with regard to the diversion of young people within the care system. This work will progress in 2024 where engagement with stakeholders will commence.

Sexual Offences Working Group

An internal working group was set up to examine the law and practice in relation to 'peer to peer' sharing of intimate images and training requirements for JLOs in relation to dealing with the children who have been referred for sexual offences. Work will continue in 2024 to address training requirements and development of guidelines for JLOs to assist them in dealing with children who have been referred for sexual offences.

Greentown Programme

The Greentown Programme is an evidence-informed and design-led targeted community intervention, which aims to reduce the influence of criminal networks on children. The Programme was designed by the REPPP Team in the University of Limerick with the assistance of international experts. The Programme is informed by a significant evidence base, which includes multiple primary studies, evaluation findings and deliberation with international academics in the area of organised crime, and national experts in the areas of youth justice, child welfare, policing and community development.

Stakeholders involved in the Programme include TUSLA, HSE, Probation Service, NGOs and An Garda Síochána. There are currently two trial sites where the Programme is in operation (locations are confidential).

Assistant Commissioner, Roads Policing and Community Engagement, oversees An Garda Síochána's involvement in the Greentown Programme. The objective of the programme is to reduce the capability of criminal networks to recruit children to commit crime. The programme also aims to provide an exit route for children who are already engaged in crime. Local Gardaí and JLOs are proactively involved in the implementation of the Greentown Programme.

In 2023, the Programme was extended to the end of 2026 by the Minister for Justice. The Minister included a number of conditions for the extension, including development of network disruption strategies, the development of an evaluation framework for the whole Programme and identification of effective components within the Programme that can be scaled out.

Bail Support Supervision

The Bail Supervision Scheme promotes collaborative practices on joint working with young people to whom the court has granted bail with conditions between An Garda Síochána (AGS), Extern Bail Supervision Scheme (BSS), Young Person's Probation (YPP), Oberstown Children Detention Campus (Oberstown) and Tusla. The Programme is operating in Dublin, Limerick and Cork.

The GNYDB leads An Garda Síochána's involvement in the Bail Support Supervision Programme. Work will continue in 2024 to review and develop current operating procedures.

Youth Joint Agency Response to Crime (YJARC)

The Youth Joint Agency Response to Crime (YJARC) Strategy is an agreement between An Garda Síochána, Probation Service, Irish Prison Service, Oberstown Children Detention Campus, Department of Justice & Equality, Department of Children, Equality, Disability, Integration and Youth, which aims to:

- Develop and further strengthen a multi-agency approach to the management of crime
- Prioritise offenders in order to develop initiatives which will address their behaviour
- Reduce crime and increase public safety in local communities

As a group, YJARC works from a child centred, strengths based perspective that allows creative and quality solutions to be identified in collaboration with the young person, their family and relevant support services. These aim to address the presenting criminogenic risks and needs in the individual young person. Through YJARC, interagency professional best practice works to empower the young person and their family to support change and assist him/her to desist from criminal behaviour. The GNYDB is the organisational lead in YJARC.

While Youth JARC was operational in two locations, Cork and Blanchardstown, in 2023 it was extended to Dublin North Central. The Dublin North Central YJARC focuses on youths referred for selection under the four following strands:

1. Prevention - Youths within the family which are of concern and risk of grooming
2. Intervention - Youths in the Garda Youth Diversion Programme
3. Crisis Intervention - Prolific youth offending
4. Continuum - Youths in and post detention

FAI – AGS Youth Diversion Project Late Night League Pilot

FAI – AGS Youth Diversion Project Late Night League Pilot is a diversionary programme incorporating football leagues at various locations across Ireland since 2008. This initiative from the Football Association of Ireland (FAI) and An Garda Síochána is based around the concept of using football as a tool for problem solving in communities through social inclusion and learning. It is aimed at encouraging 'at risk' young people to participate in meaningful activities, thus reducing youth crime and anti-social behaviour. The Late Night Leagues are open to young people aged 13-18 and aim to take place during peak anti-social hours such as Friday and Saturday nights.

In 2023, the Football Association of Ireland and the Garda National Youth Diversion Bureau piloted a youth diversion late night league over a four-week period in Quarter 4 in 20 Districts nationwide. A review of the pilot is to be undertaken in 2024.
